BEHAVIORAL INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Many recruiters ask behavioral-based questions to probe your past behavior in jobs, classrooms, group projects and activities. As you listen to the question, think about what quality or skill they are evaluating.

STAR METHOD

The STAR Method is an effective strategy to answer behavioralbased questions. When asked this type of question, utilize the following steps:

- Situation: Briefly outline background information to frame the situation.
- Task: Briefly narrate what you were trying to accomplish.
- Action: Give example of how you utilized relevant skills and qualities to resolve the situation/achieve goal/task.
- Result: Briefly summarize the positive outcome.

Below are sample questions by category of what skill the recruiter might be evaluating you.

Problem Solving

- Which classes gave you the most trouble?
- What are the biggest challenges encountered in college?
- Give an example of when you refused to give up.

Adaptability

- How was your transition from high school to college?
- When your priorities are changed by someone else, how do you adjust to such situations?
- Time Management
- How do you manage priorities?
- Tell me about a time when you planned an event and what steps you took to make sure everything went well.
- Tell me about your method for personal organization and time management.
- Tell me about a time you were faced with conflicting priorities. How did you determine your course of action?
- Tell me about a time that managed multiple responsibilities. How did you organize the work you needed to do?

Leadership

- Tell me about a time you helped someone else be successful.
- 1 Tell me about a time you were suddenly called on or forced to be a leader.
- Tell me about a time you experienced initial failure in convincing someone else to do something. What ultimately happened? What did you learn?
